OMB hearing planned

Minden zoning by-law passes third reading

The revised zoning by-law for Anson, Hindon and Minden townships has received third and final reading by the municipal council. The final approval came at the close of the March 10 meeting.

The by-law, which enacts numerous amendments to the existing zoning regulations, has been under study for almost a year. The by-law controls building activity and development in the municipality, regulating such items set-backs from roadways, zones for residential, recreational, commercial and industrial purposes, minimum size for certain structures among others.

The passing of the by-law took place after an extended closed meeting, which the council claimed was necessary to discuss township employee wages. The third reading did not appear on either the agenda or the addendum for the meeting.

Recently a number of residents of the municipality had requested that a second public meeting be held to discuss the implications of the amendments. In particular there was concern about the change in zoning for cottages in shoreline areas. Some cottage owners believe that the introduction of a "recreational residential" zoning could mean they will be unable to convert their cottages into permanent residences when they retire.

The minimum frontage for shoreline properties has also been a point of contention in the past with various figures from the present 100 feet up to 200 feet being suggested as alternatives.

The delineation of a hazard land zone through the Village of Minden has also caused some controversy with Ministry of Natural Resources planning personnel claiming they would file formal objections to the by-law if the potential for flooding in the area was not recognized.

Objections

Having given the by-law final reading, the document will now be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board. A public hearing will then be arranged at which time ratepayers and others with objections to the contents of the document can present their points of view. in the municipality, giving everyone an opportunity to examine the document carefully before it receives final approval from the Ontario government.

That was one reason, according to municipal clerk Elinor Burke, for the speedy passage of third reading. She pointed out that under the grant structure of the Ministry of Housing, the municipality has until early April to mail a copy of the by-law to each ratepayer. If the township missed the deadline, it could jeopardize the grants the housing ministry has promised to assist with the preparation of the document.

The deadline for circulating the by-law has been extended once already.

The document has been prepared by the municipality in consultation with planners from the consulting engineer firm of Proctor and Redfern.

Browndale announces plans for wilderness camping area

Browndale Ontario, the province-wide organization of residential youth treatment centres, is planning to introduce wilderness camping on a 600 acre site north of Minden area.

Plans for the project, which is to be developed on property straddling the Vankoughnet Road at the Queen's Line, were formally approved by the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council at the March 10 meeting.

Browndale currently operates several group homes in the Minden area. The wilderness camping program will be a continuation of a similar program which has been formerly located on the Berry line in Stanhope township.

Don Cameron, property manager for Browndale's Toronto office, and Bill Payne of Wrightman Realty presented the proposals for the project at the March 10 meeting of Minden council. Payne told council that the Browndale group is seeking council's "blessing" for the plan before purchasing the acreage.

The 600 acre property is currently owned by Wally and Joan Bunn of Minden. Payne said following the meeting that the sale will most likely be completed by the end of March.

Cameron told council that the wilderness camping area, once it is fully developed, will draw on the central and eastern regions of Browndale's current operations. According to Cameron, the program will bring between 400 and 600 youths and adults to the area.

Cameron estimated that 160 youths and the same number of staff members will use the property once it is in full operation. He told councillors that parents visiting their children at the site will bring the total number of people using the property to roughly 600 in peak periods.

The proposed site for the camp is currently zoned for

Pool fun also a learning experience

Even though it may be cold and tranquil in surrounding woods, any Thursday afternoon from 4:15 until 5:00 the PineStone Inn rings with the shouts and splashes of children in the pool downstairs. All the activity is part of the swimming program held each week at the resort by the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD).

Thanks to the generosity of the PineStone, the association has been able to provide swimming instruction for its members for the past three months. Eleven Minden children from grades 1 to 8 have taken the opportunity to be coached in a range of activities, from diving and treading water to the front crawl, breast stroke, side stroke and elementary back stroke.

The ACLD was founded four years ago by Mrs. Ernice Warder, a special education teacher at the Archie Stouffer School in Minden. She has been instrumental in setting up the Thursday swimming sessions, and several other programs also sponsored by the ACLD.

Rob Dennys, an instructor with Browndale Ontario in Haliburton County, has been conducting the swimming program for the ACLD on a volunteer basis for several years. The Thursday sessions operate on a one-to-one basis, one adult working with each child. The majority of participants are teachers from Minden and Haliburton schools, and several parents of participating children also take part.

Dennys is pleased with the results of the program. Walking around the pool with clip board in hand, he keeps a careful eye on the children's

Council commits funds for downtown improvements BIA planning promotion

The Board of Management of the Business Improvement Area (BIA) has secured a $40,000 commitment from the Anson, Hindon and Minden council for improvements to the Minden downtown core.

Municipal council passed a motion committing the funding at the March 10 meeting, after BIA directors Stu Brandon and Gordon Monk gave a presentation stressing the need for the fund. The commitment is based on a $20,000 amount for 1981 and this year.

Following a suggestion by Brandon, the council also included in the motion a recommendation to future councils that a similar amount be budgeted each year towards improvement projects for the downtown area.

The commitment of funds by council represents a long-sought concession to the BIA, which has been seeking an ongoing improvement program for the downtown section since the inception of the BIA in 1980.

Municipal council budgeted $20,000 last year for similar improvement projects. That amount along with the $20,000 fund for 1982 will now be put in a reserve fund and used to finance municipal projects in the core area, such as sidewalk improvements and additional lighting.

The BIA consists of an area in downtown Minden bound by the Brewer's Retail Store, the office of John Purc and the Fruit Market beside the Wrightman Realty Office.

The area was established as the BIA in the fall of 1980, following guidelines set out by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs. After several stormy meetings, at which some business operators to be included in the area voiced strong objections to the plan, Minden municipal council passed a by-law, which was then approved by the Ontario Municipal Board, decreeing that all businesses within the area would be members.

Funds for BIA projects are raised from members on the basis of their taxes in relation to the total tax raised in the area.

Brandon told councillors at the March 10 meeting that "many business people feel they are not getting a good deal for their dollar". According to Gord Monk, many members are asking, "Why should we pay for side-walks out of a BIA levy when they are a municipal responsibility?"

Brandon outlined the BIA's presentation to council as an appeal for a commitment to improvement projects. "Basically what we want is for council to set up a program for downtown improvement that the BIA can then contribute to," he said.

Brandon also said that sidewalk maintenance and minor park development downtown would cost between $110,000 and $120,000. The figures come from 1979 estimates by the consulting firm of Totten, Sims and Hubicki.

The BIA has already raised $3,000 in member levies to help cover the cost of a study of the downtown core, to be conducted this spring by the Ontario Architecture Association. The study will be carried out by one architect and two students, who will examine the downtown core during a weekend and outline proposals for beautification and improvement of the area in a report presented at the end of the two-day study.

The BIA Board also has plans for a weekly promotion campaign in the months of April and May. Free tickets will be distributed through participating downtown businesses. The winner of the weekly draw will be awarded BIA gift certificates, or "BIA Bucks" worth $50 at members' stores.

Municipal council also gave its approval to appointments made to the BIA Board of Management for 1982. Councillor Ed Pergolas will represent council on the board. Stu Brandon, Gord Monk and Jack Brezina were appointed to represent BIA supporters, while Wally Bunn, Bob McBrien and Joe Shapiera were appointed to represent those merchants who initially objected to the formation of the organization.

Minden Red Cross elects new exec.

The Minden Red Cross Society has appointed its new executive for the 1982-1983 term.

At the annual Red Cross dinner held Monday night at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant out-going president Robbie Luke welcomed the new president, David McKinley. Serving with McKinley will be Brian Adamson as vice-president and James Grant as treasurer. Mrs. Eleanor Hall will continue her duties as secretary of the society.

In his final speech as president, Luke told the fifty society members and guests gathered at the dinner that the work of the Minden Red Cross is made possible by the efforts of each individual member. "No one person could take the credit for the work of the society," he told the group, "but through the contribution of all involved we've achieved a true group effort".

In-coming president David McKinley said in his acceptance speech that the Minden Society is one of the most active anywhere. He told the group that he looks forward to working with them to continue the strong network of support services that the Minden Red Cross provides.

Society members heard several reports from the various service groups within the Red Cross. Representatives from disaster relief, the loan cupboard, the home-makers service and support services all gave updates on the work they had done over the past year.

Jim Burton, regional representative of the Red Cross in Haliburton County, told the meeting that 2,000 letters will soon be in the mail to mark Red Cross Month. The March campaign will raise funds for the Minden society and for Red Cross groups throughout the country.

Sergeant Bill Bailey of the Minden OPP, addressed the group following the dinner. Speaking as an ex-serviceman, Bailey told his audience that every serviceman undoubtedly feels a soft spot for the Red Cross. For Bailey, a Christmas dinner served by Red Cross nurses during the Second World War in Europe represents the spirit of the Red Cross for him, instead of the usual freezing mess tins, he and fellow soldiers were served on real plates, on tables set with real napkins. According to Bailey, it made all the difference to his Christmas that year.

Alberta resident charged

An Alberta man has been charged with careless driving after his pickup truck left the road in a Monmouth township and sailed 50 feet through the air before landing on a snowbank.

Keith Woodcox, 19, of Slave Lake, was driving his 1976 Ford pickup on highway 648 on Tuesday, March 9 when he struck the snowbank. Woodcox and his two passengers Roger and Randy Woodcox of Wilberforce, were taken to Haliburton Red Cross Hospital following the incident, where they were treated for minor injuries and later released.

The Woodcox truck sustained $3,000 damage in the incident, which was investigated by PC Jim Solway.

progress and provides encouragement and advice to the groups working in the pool. "Some of these kids have made amazing progress," he says. "One little boy wouldn't even go near the water when he began the program, and now you can't keep them out," Dennys adds, pointing to a boy in mid-leap from the side of the pool.

Dennys credits the one-on-one system for the excellent results he has seen over the past three months. "That kind of special attention and care is important to these children," he says. "Without it they could never have found the confidence they now have." Dennys adds that several children now work in the deep end of the pool would not venture out of the shallow end when they first arrived for the Thursday sessions.

The youngsters benefit in a number of ways from the pool experience. Swimming helps improve their gross motor coordination. As well, as the youngsters advance in their swimming skills they gain confidence and self esteem. These positive attitudes can be transferred to other aspects of their lives and learning experiences.

At the end of the three month program, participating children are awarded cards to show they have completed the activities Dennys has set out.

The children are busy outside the pool as well. The ACDL is planning a variety night for April 29th at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in Haliburton. The evening's events begin at 7:30, and the schedule includes skits, instrumentals and singing, all performed by the same children who take to the water every Thursday afternoon.

rural use. Municipal clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke told Payne and Cameron that the current by-law allows "parks and playgrounds" on land with a rural classification. She added that, because the interpretation of those activities is "very broad" according to the by-law, wilderness camping could be allowed on the site.

Cameron also told council that a temporary trailer will be needed at the site for a nursing station and administrative office until permanent facilities can be built. Municipal council passed a special motion granting approval for the planned use of the trailer. According to the by-law, a trailer can be used as a residence only.

Cameron said that Browndale plans to take 2 to 3 years to develop roughly fifty campsites on the property. Payne added that Browndale will be approaching Ontario Hydro to request that hydro poles be extended from the Vankoughnet to service the proposed site.

Browndale director Bill Barber expects work at the site to begin by the end of May. Initial operations at the site will include thinning of bush to prepare for work on the main campsite.

Hyland Crest wins award

The Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's home in Minden has won the Ontario Hospital Association's Accident Prevention Achievement Award for the year ending March 31, 1981.

The award, the first for the Hyland Crest home, is given by the Association's Hospital Occupational Health and Safety Services group (HOHSS), to the health institution with the lowest frequency of lost time injuries among its staff.

162 hospitals and 95 other health care institutions in the province now participate in the HOHSS. This year 27 have earned the Accident Prevention Achievement Award. Hospitals and health care institutions are classified in seven different categories, according to the hours worked annually. All hospitals and health care institutions in the province are eligible for the award.

Council approves stipend increases

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has approved new remuneration and expense payments for its members for 1982.

At the March 10 meeting, councillors voted to approve the following increases:

- Reeve Lloyd Walker will receive an honourarium of $4,320 and an expense allowance of $1,000. The remuneration is up $70 over last year, while the expense allowance remains the same.

- Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard receives an increase of $220. His remuneration will be $3,720 this year, up from last year's figure of $3,500. His expense allowance is unchanged at $750.

- Councillors Larry Cummins, Lyle McKnight and Ed Pergolas will receive an increase of $200 to their stipend. They will now earn $3,200 annually instead of the $3,000 they received last year. Their expense allowance will be increased to $600 from $500.

Council also reviewed municipal workers' wages at the meeting. Each department in the municipality negotiates its own wages with council. Council has submitted its offers to the various departments, but wage negotiations are not expected to be complete until March 24, according to municipal clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke.

Ambulance drivers deliver baby enroute to hospital

Thanks to the skilled work of members of the Minden Ambulance Corps, Connie Crego is now the mother of a baby girl.

Crego went into labour shortly before midnight on the 9th of March. She and her two year old daughter were picked up by OPP constables Brian Bowers and Dennis Potter on the main street of Minden. They stopped after being flagged down by Crego, who was attempting to walk to the Minden Red Cross Hospital.

The OPP constables took her to the Minden hospital, where she was prepared to be transferred by ambulance to the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital. Ambulance driver Robbie Luke and attendant John Hulbig began the drive to Haliburton, but by the time they had reached PineStone Inn on Highway 121, Ms. Crego was in advanced labour. Luke pulled over and he and Hulbig delivered the baby girl in the ambulance.

The ambulance continued on to Haliburton following the birth of the baby girl, where Crego and her daughter were admitted to the Red Cross Hospital.

According to Luke, the delivery went smoothly and Crego and her daughter came through it without complications. Representatives of the Haliburton Hospital refused to comment on the case.

Careless driving charge

A second driver was charged with careless driving when he rolled his 1975 Ford on Highway 35 north of Dorset Saturday.

Sixteen year old Lance Payne of Dorset lost control of his car on a curve at 1:45 a.m., and caused $3,500 damage to his car when it rolled. Payne was not injured in the crash. Constable Mike Smith investigated for Minden OPP.

Tires taken

William Pascoe spent an expensive night near Loon Lake March 14th. The thirty-one year old Greenwood, Ontario resident parked his 1980 GMC van on highway 121 at 2 a.m. on the 14th. When he returned the following morning at 11 a.m., both rear wheels had been stolen from his van. They are valued at $300 each.

Hiding from the public

Minden municipal council has given third and final reading to a number of major amendments to its zoning by-law. The new regulations have now been sent to the Ontario Municipal Board and ratepayers will be receiving a copy of the by-law for their personal perusal. Before the by-law receives final approval from the provincial authorities, a public meeting will be held at which objectors will have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

There were a number of contentious issues raised when the by-law was being prepared. Among these are shoreline frontages, hazard land zoning and recreational residential zoning. Some ratepayers have sought a second public meeting prior to the third reading, but council has forged ahead.

The council has been working under a deadline imposed by the Ministry of Housing. The provincial department is providing a grant to help cover the costs of preparing the document.

The council obviously wanted to avoid further public discussion of the by-law before third reading. That was made clear in the manner in which the by-law was presented for passage. It did not appear on the agenda for the day and the public was dismissed from the chambers as the council went into closed session to discuss municipal employee wages. The members of the public in attendance (two members of the press) were led to believe that the only public business left was the meeting's adjournment. Therefore, the reporters did not wait outside the chamber for the end of the closed session.

While the by-law was enacted in open session, the council had ended its committee of the whole session and there was no one from the public to witness the event. The council has, once again, gone behind closed doors to enact legislation that deserves close examination by the public.

While all ratepayers will have an opportunity to examine the document and object at a formal hearing convened by the Ontario Municipal Board, we feel the council's methods in securing third reading of this by-law demonstrates a total disregard for the residents they claim to represent. Public business should be transacted in public.

No money for jobs

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

The Throne Speech, opening the second session of the thirty-second Parliament, focused on the depressed state of the economy. As usual, with Mr. Davis, blame was laid at the feet of the federal government. To me it was the same old story: no money for job creation, but lots for purchasing SUNCOR, a private jet, Minaki Lodge, etc. It really was a rehash of programs promised in other speeches.

I found it disappointing that there was no commitment to skill training for our young people, especially when Ontario Hydro goes to England to recruit technicians while our own young people walk the streets looking for work.

Proposed social reforms included improved equal pay legislation for women, support for day care and mandatory automobile restraints for children under 5 years old, or weighing less than 50 lbs.

Since no dollar values were attached to any of the Throne Speech proposals, we shall have to wait until the budget comes down next month to assess the value of the promises made.

Apparently the Premier and his colleagues continue to place their faith in the Board of Industrial Leadership and Development (BILD)

Letters

Editor:

The Canada Labour Code defines a strike as "a cessation of work, or a refusal to work, or continue to work by employees in combination, or in concert, or in accordance with a common understanding, or a slowdown of work that is designed to restrict or limit output".

Therefore, there can be no other interpretation of the farce taking place in Ottawa than that the Conservative Members of Parliament are on strike. Since the mandate they have been given by the people who elected them contains no right to strike, it is, furthermore, an illegal strike.

These Members are among the first to scream for action and/or legislation to force other Government employees back to work, even when those employees are on a legal strike, because it is deemed not to be in the best interests of the public to allow the workers to be absent. Conversely, it can be assumed that the Conservatives feel it is in the best interests of the public that they are absent from their work. (With that assumption I can completely agree!) Being unable to form the Government because they did not have the support of the public, they do little to enhance their position by their actions now.

An injunction to cease the illegal strike should be obtained, and they should be ordered back to work. Failure to return would mean that they have abandoned their offices. They could then be replaced by others who would be willing to carry out the responsibilities of elected representatives.

If I go on strike, I forfeit the right to be paid by my employer. I have no delusions that the striking Members will forfeit their generous salaries and tax-free allowances for the time they are absent. They will continue to squander the tax-payers' money by drawing their salaries while doing nothing to earn them.

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Though the woods may be still deep in snow, the sunny days of March bring once again the ritual that heralds spring - the boiling down of maple syrup. Across the province, about 2000 producers will head for the sugar bush, each engaging in a tradition that pays handsomely in personal satisfaction, if poorly in dollars per hour. By the time the three-week season is over, their labours will have produced over 250,000 gallons of the sweet brown liquid known as maple syrup.

The making of maple syrup, and of its by-product maple sugar, is a North American tradition. The Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society of London reported in 1864 that "the savages of Canada...have practiced this art longer than any now living among them remember." The Indians used a hollow stem of sumac or elder for a spout to collect the sap from the trunk of a maple. But while these have been replaced by metal spiles and sophisticated plastic tubing to collect the sap, the basics are still the same. It still takes 32 gallons of sap to boil down to one gallon of syrup. And it still takes the crisp nights and warm days of late March to start the run of sap each year.

The sugar in maple sap is actually the result of the previous year's photosynthesis, which stores sugar produced by the green leaves in all parts of the tree. During the winter, this stored energy is actually in the form of starch, but the alternate freezing and thawing of early spring transforms it to soluble sugar, ready to fuel the bursting buds. The same rising temperatures thaw the water contained in the wood cells, and help it to circulate throughout the tree - up through the sapwood, and back down the inner bark. Just how this pumping system operates, to move sap from deep in the roots to perhaps 120 feet in the air, is not exactly understood.

Occasionally syrup is also made from red or silver maples, or even from butternut trees, but it is the majestic sugar maple that forms the mainstay of the maple syrup industry. In many Ontario communities, local conservation agencies or individual producers welcome visitors to their operations. For a taste of spring, such a visit is hard to beat.

Haliburton Highlands set to soar

The name of the Haliburton Highlands will soon be flying over sixteen Toronto malls. The Chamber of Commerce has raised $8,000 to fund the high-flying publicity campaign, and balloon owner and pilot Steve Bowskill says he's ready to fly...

Eighty-six feet from top to bottom, fifty-five feet wide; inside, seventy-seven thousand cubic feet of hot air. Steve Bowskill's Sky Slider balloon is an imposing spectacle to be sure, and it's bound to have quite an impact in Toronto when it takes to the air in the next two months.

The balloon has already raised a lot of interest in Haliburton County. After an ambitious fund-raising campaign, the Haliburton Chamber of Commerce has raised the $8,000 that will send the $34,000 balloon to sixteen Toronto malls in the coming months with the name of the Highlands flying twenty-two feet high on the balloon's side.

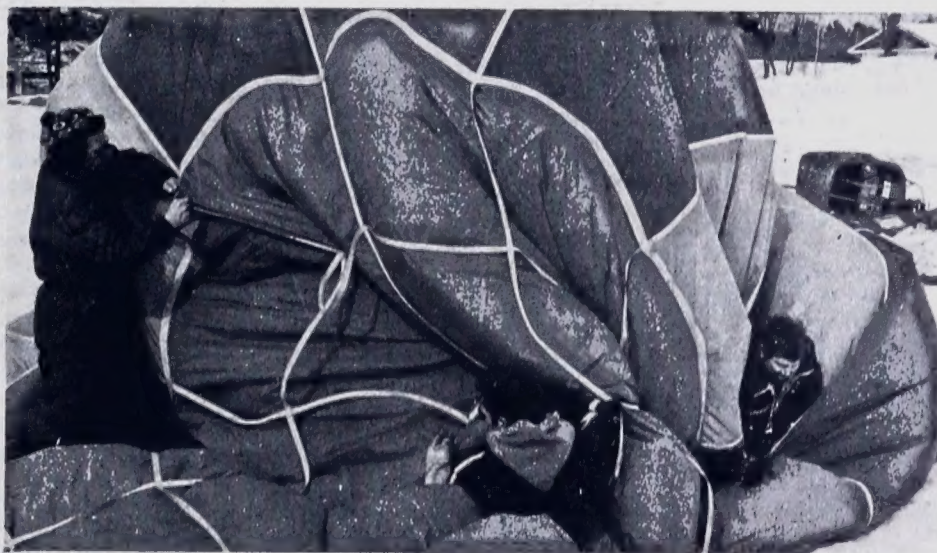

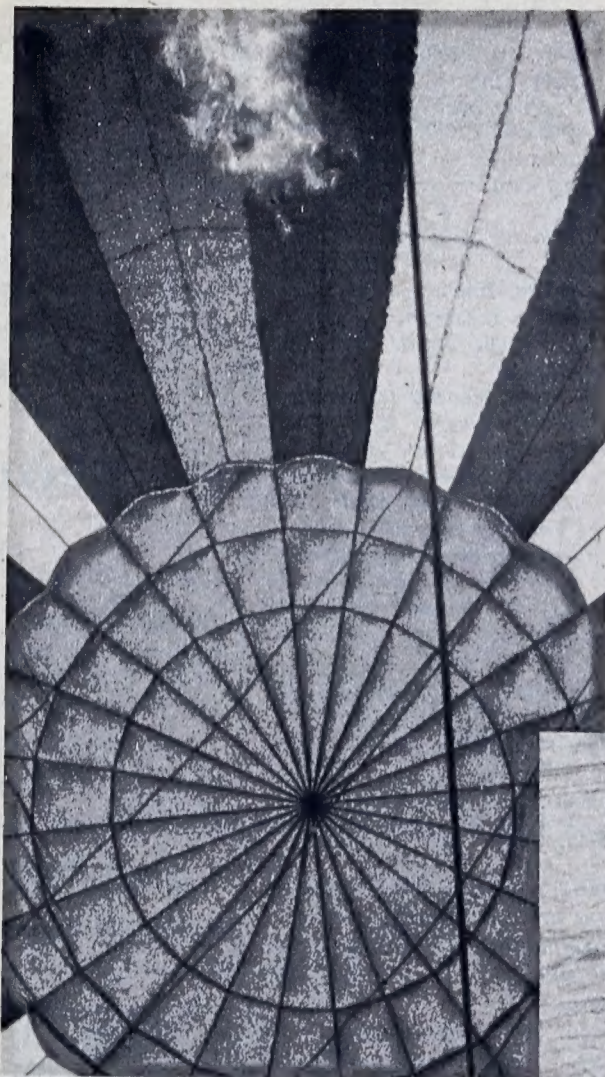

Bowskill's balloon was designed specifically as promotion for the Sky Slider Ride by Raven Industries in New Jersey. Two burners and two twenty-gallon tanks of propane are used to float the craft, and at full capacity the wicker basket that hangs underneath takes a load of 1,700 pounds skyward; that's one pilot and four consenting adults.

But there's more to flying the balloon than supplying hot air. It takes a crew of four to prepare the giant for flight, and Bowskill has put in over thirty hours instruction and flying time to qualify for a pilot's licence from the Department of Transportation. The main thrust of the promotional campaign will be a giant banner reading "Haliburton Highlands - Yours to Discover". Made from the same rip-stop nylon as the balloon itself, the banner will be twenty-two feet in height and twenty-six feet long; Bowskill expects it to be ready by April. Then he and his crew will load the works into a half-ton pickup truck and head for Toronto. While the balloon is aloft, Chamber of Commerce employees will be distributing literature and information in the malls below, and merchants will sell tickets to ride in the balloon.

Bowskill and the Chamber have ambitious plans, but everything still hangs on the weather. Any more than eight miles per hour of wind, and the balloon is simply too unruly to launch. So, weather permitting, Toronto will soon get a spectacular glimpse of the Highlands and summer tourism will be set for a launch of its own.

When the balloon is not fulfilling the Chamber's Toronto itinerary, it will be flying daily this summer at the Sky Slider Ride in Haliburton Village. Bowskill also plans to make the most of the balloon as a promotional tool. It will be available to communities in the county for publicizing local activities throughout the year.

Clockwise from left: Spectators look on as the balloon ascends; a propane-fired flame is used to feed hot air into the balloon; the craft aloft, descending, and being wrestled away for the day by Bowskill's crew.

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

Ritchie Harrison of Carnarvon caught a 22 lb. Lake Trout in Boshkung Lake last winter and subsequently donated his trophy to the Chamber for display. The Chamber was not in a financial position to have the fish mounted but fortunately Mike Reader of Wildlife Taxidermy in Peterborough donated his services in the interest of good public relations.

Mike has done a beautiful job of mounting this 36 inch lunker and we hope to get Ritchie in to have his picture taken with it. It will make a very impressive conversation piece both at the Chamber office and at shows that we attend. In the meantime it will make its debut at the Toronto Sportsman's Show beginning this Friday at the Coliseum at Exhibition Place.

A couple of our regulars, that is members who participated with us in the Chamber booth at the show, will not be with us this year. Due to the success of previous years Bowes and Cocks Real Estate and Haliburton Hockey Haven are now renting booth space on their own. We will miss their participation but are pleased that this creates even more promotion for the County. We hope many of you will drop down to the show and come by to say hello to both them and us. We will be pleased to sell you a draw ticket on the fine hand-stitched quilt created by the ladies from the Guild of Fine Arts.

Some warnings

U.S. Postage: We have just heard of the dilemma of one resort operator who was preparing a large mailing for his American customers. Having ascertained that postage to the U.S. was 35¢ he added a 5% stamp to the regular 30¢ stamp now in common use. On arriving with his bundles of letters at the post office he was informed that the stamp he was using, which has no price shown on the face, is not valid outside Canada. All the stamps had to be steamed off and replaced. Another handy procedure created by our newest Crown corporation.

Look-alike invoices: Even with the high cost of postage apparently enough people are still fooled by solicitations for advertising that are designed to look like invoices to make it lucrative for a number of promoters. If you have any doubts about the authenticity of an invoice or of a promotional program check with our Chamber for advice.

We had one from Skokie, Illinois last year who couldn't interest their own Chamber of Commerce in a free ad, but they sold quite a few up here in Ontario.

Las Vegas vacation certificates: The Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce has written to us to advise that the certificate deals that are currently being offered through mail and telephone solicitations are not considered reputable by them and they urge anyone planning a vacation there to work with a recognized travel agency.

Tales of the trail

This excellent book of poems written by Theo Peacock, "The Haliburton Trapper" was an instant success when it was first published back in 1974. It depicts life in the woods for the hunters, trappers and lumbermen in an era fast fading from reality. It is also enhanced by some fine sketches through the kindness of Carole Finn.

Theo wanted no profits from his works and donated all proceeds to the Gooderham Public Library. When all the initial printing was exhausted there was still a heavy demand for the book so the library has now invested the entire proceeds they realized from the first printing into a second printing of 1,000 copies.

The book is now available once again at all the Haliburton County libraries and several retail outlets. Through the assistance of Don Finn we were also able to offer them through the Chamber office.

A tax seminar

It's that time of year when we are all thinking about our income tax but what about the things you have been doing all year that will affect you now. A seminar, sponsored by the Haliburton County Real Estate Board is being run this Thursday at PineStone Inn, designed to help you with this concern. It will be geared to both small businessmen and commission salespersons and will be headed by Jack Perelmutter, B. Com., C.A. an expert on the subject.

Cost is $40.00 per person including lunch and materials. For more information contact Ken Sanderson at 448-2534 or The Haliburton office of Bowes and Cocks 457-2220. It could save you a lot of money at this time next year.

The bells are still ringing on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, calling Members to a vote that is not likely to take place unless the Liberal government acts to resolve the issue that brought on the impasse.

Bill Scott, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Victoria-Haliburton, said that the bells will keep ringing until the government withdraws Bill C-94 and splits it into several, more manageable bills.

Bill C-94, the issue that brought on the historic and precedent-setting shut-down of Parliament, is an omnibus bill that seeks to amend 15 separate acts of Parliament, and also to create four more new and very complex acts of Parliament, all with limited debate and only one vote in the House.

Omnibus bills are a legitimate means of tabling legislation in the House, but these usually seek a number of amendments to just one act of Parliament, or possibly to two or three related acts.

However, Bill C-94 exceeds the bounds of Parliamentary tradition and practice, and if it is allowed even to come before the House, it would effectively remove control of Parliament from its Members and the people they are elected to represent, according to Scott.

Among other things, this bill would allow the government to raise gasoline by 28 cents per gallon immediately, and a further 70 cents per gallon whenever it chooses to do so, for a total of 98 cents per gallon.

During the last federal election campaign, Mr. Trudeau pledged not to raise the price of gasoline as much as the 18 cents proposed by the Conservative government. He broke that pledge as soon as he was elected.

In 1980 the Liberal government raised gasoline prices by 28 cents per gallon, and last year the price was increased by 48 cents per gallon. This year the government is seeking a further 94 cent increase.

The government seeks in Bill C-94 to levy new taxes, and to make some of them retroactive to as far back as May 1st, 1979. Part of the government's reason for not wanting to withdraw Bill C-94 is that it has been collecting some taxes over the past few months that have never been approved by Parliament. Passage of this bill would get them off the hook.

Retired Liberal Senator and noted Constitutional expert Dr. Eugene Forsey said that "Parliament has been shorn of many of its former powers," and he stated that the Conservative method of obstructing Bill C-94 is a legitimate one.

Mr. Scott said that the government of Pierre Trudeau has been abusing the practice of tabling omnibus bills to the point where drastic measures were called for to restore Parliament as an instrument of the people. He said that many government bills in the recent past have been onerous and distasteful, "but Bill C-94 is simply unacceptable."

Scott said that public reaction to the Conservative's determination to stand firm has been "overwhelmingly in our favour."

"The two phrases we hear most from people who write or call us," Scott said, "are 'keep the bells ringing', and 'Stop Trudeau'."

"Another reason why Trudeau doesn't want to withdraw Bill C-94 is that he does not want any of its parts to go before a Parliamentary Standing Committee," Scott said. "If this bill were to go before Committee we could call in independent experts, and invite public participation."

"The Trudeau government doesn't want Bill C-94 scrutinized closely, and it does not want separate votes on its major provisions," Scott said. "Trudeau wants it all his own way - all or nothing, and this time we're not going to allow him to continue to impose one-man-rule on our country."

Program and the upturn in economic conditions in North America predicted for later this year.

The province is at present supplementing Unemployment Insurance payments to provide employment for forestry workers. It seems the Treasurer is to negotiate further with Ottawa for the use of UIC funds to "provide employment in other areas of worthwhile endeavours", and the intention is to do the same for workers in the mining industry as has been done for forestry workers.

Farmers have been promised an expansion of the Farm Adjustment Assistance Program, and there is to be more start-up capital assistance for young farmers.

Laid-off workers are promised additional protection under the Employment Standards Act. Severance pay is to be given priority over other claims upon a bankrupt company. Non-union employees are to be given their first protection against unjust dismissal.

There is to be assistance to Northern communities to establish facilities to provide extended-care services to the elderly. Special advanced training in cardiopulmonary resuscitation is promised for ambulance personnel, as well as homemaker programs to serve the elderly, frail and disabled.

Although given Third Reading last December 7th, the Human Rights Code will not be proclaimed until June, to coincide with the 20th anniversary of the original Ontario Code.

A general review of long-term options for improved commuter service is promised.

There is to be legislation to permit municipalities to conduct business in French as well as English and to allow wills and land registration documents to be in French.

Once the constitution is patriated, Ontario will opt into all the provisions of the new Canadian Charter of Rights.

Thank you

Minden Figure Skating Carnival on Sunday March 14 was a great success and drew a large crowd.

The Club would like to thank everyone who came to watch or help behind the scenes. We would like to give Bill Payne a special thanks for his great running commentary, especially when we got a little behind in the running of the numbers.

The kids were terrific and had a marvellous time performing and would like to invite everyone back again next year for a bigger and better show.

Please take note that there is no skating during the March Break.

Dianne Garbutt advances to zone finals in Legion public speaking contest

Dianne Garbutt, a grade five student at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden, is speaking her way to fame. Dianne is the winner of the zone finals of the Royal Canadian Legion's Oral Communications Festival, held last Sunday in Fenelon Falls.

Dianne's speech on curling was voted first over eight other entrants in the grades 4, 5 and 6 category. The win moves her to the district finals, to be held April 4, again at the Fenelon Falls Legion Hall.

Twenty-three contestants competed in Sunday's event, which began at 1:30 p.m. and wound up at 4:30 after the speeches had been delivered.

The Oral Communications Festival, sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion, is in its first year; Legion organizers hope it will now become an annual event.

Dawn Saxon of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School placed third out of five competitors in the High School division in the Fenelon Falls event, with a speech on the Children's Aid Society. Lyn Bibby competed for Archie Stouffer School in the Grades 7 and 8 category, speaking on the topic of friendship.

The Festival competitions are held at five different levels, from school competitions to branch finals, zone finals, district finals and finally, the provincial competition. One winner from each of three categories - Grades 4, 5 and 6, Grades 7 and 8, and High School - advance from each level's competition.

Sunday's competitors advanced to the zone finals on the strength of their performances in the branch competitions. The Haliburton branch competition was held March 9th at the Legion Auditorium in Haliburton. Misses Garbutt and Bibby both placed first in their divisions.

Kevin Cowen of Archie Stouffer placed second behind Lyn Bibby in the 7 and 8 category, speaking on robots, and Nicholas Holliday-Rhodes placed second in the 4-5-6 division with a speech on The Times newspaper.

Judges in the March 9 competition were Ruth Gorrie, Principal of Victoria Street School in Haliburton, Mrs. Dorothy Kinsman of the Haliburton County Board of Education and Stephen Phillips, English teacher at Haliburton Highlands High School. Awards were presented by the first vice-president of the Legion, Branch 129, Bruce McKay.

Contestants were questioned following their speeches by Archie Stouffer vice-president Gerald Irish and Chris Childs of Haliburton High School.

Public speaking finalists from Archie Stouffer Elementary School, from the left, Kevin Cowen, Dianne Garbutt, Lyn Bibby and Nicholas Holliday-Rhodes.

Eakins welcomes new responsibilities

John Eakins, M.P.P. for Victoria-Haliburton, will be responsible for rural municipalities as well as Tourism and Recreation in the Peterson Liberal Shadow Cabinet.

"I served as Mayor of Lindsay for six years, and as president of the Towns and Villages Municipal Association of Ontario", said Eakins. "While the development of our urban centres is, of course, very important, we cannot overlook the vital necessity of ensuring that our smaller communities thrive and prosper. They must be given a fair deal.

Of course, I am very familiar with the Tourism and Recreation sectors, and my previous responsibilities in the Natural Resources portfolio gave me additional insights into these fields.

Tourism is a very important part of Ontario's economy, and this fact was emphasised time and time again when the Liberal Task Force on Tourism, of which I was chairman, toured the province. In these days of high unemployment, the potential for job creation in the tourist and hospitality industry is even more crucial.

I'm looking forward to the new session under David Peterson's leadership."

Home takes 2-1 lead in final

The Home Hardware team has moved into a commanding position in the Men's Recreational Hockey League championship. Home defeated Hartwick Construction 11-6 Monday evening.

The win means Home has won two games to Hartwick's single and they could win the championship in the next game of the best of five series.

Harris Steele led the attack for Home Hardware notching four goals, one unassisted, and helping on two others. Bill Leary potted a pair for Home as well. Singles went to Jim Todd with a goal and assist, Doug McNabb with a single and three assists, Neil Burk with one and one, Jim Keetch with a goal and two assists and Barry Shaw with a single. Dave Willis and Ted Vasey were each credited with three assists.

Larry Sawyer scored three goals for Hartwick and also assisted on one. Dave Hartwick netted a pair while the single was scored by Rick Boucher.

Picking up assists were Hartwick and Brendan Berube with a pair each, and singles from Mike Jackson, Dean Hewitt, Doug Ray, Scott Gartshore and Ken Casey.

Home led 3-1 at the end of the first period, 8-2 after two frames and, despite a four goal effort in the last stanza, the Hartwick team was unable to catch Home.

The next game, which could wrap up the season for the league, is scheduled for Monday evening at 7 p.m. Spectators are invited to take in the action.

Frank and Mary Watson celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at their house on Little Boshkung Lake. The Watsons were married March 14, 1932 in the United Church in Maple, Ontario. They have been coming to the Minden area for over thirty years and have now taken up permanent residence on Little Boshkung.

There may be a Scotchman who doesn't love the thistle; there may be an Englishman that doesn't love the rose; but show me a true hearted son of old Ireland, that doesn't like the land where the Shamrock grows. To our readers, great and small, the top of the morning to you all!

We had Rev. Burgess back with us Sunday night. He spoke on "Let the beauty of the Lord God be upon us". Harold Thompson read the lesson from Psalm ninety. Mrs. Thompson played and led the singing.

Watched two real good movies Monday night, "The Living Mountains" and many other things.

Tuesday morning Rev. Wicks of the Minden Gospel Church held the service here. He spoke on "I am the Good Shepherd". Fred Ballard played the music - a very nice service. Tuesday night is music night, when Payne, Duncan, and Crowe came to entertain us and put on a real good show. They played, and sang some good old songs of days gone by. Daryl has a real nice voice but seems a little shy.

We have a fine lady whose name is Marie. She is as busy as she can be. She looks after all the kitchen supplies, and also does the shopping for the gals and guys. She does all this with a cute little smile - never a frown. If she ever left here, we'd be surely let down.

Our ladies are busy making hats for St. Patrick's Day. If you want to see their fancy work look in the showcase by the wall.

Our administrator has been down with Asian flu. We thought he might just kick the bucket, and we were feeling awfully blue. He said himself he thought he couldn't shake it, but now he thinks he is going to make it.

A letter from Mary Oliver says she is doing fine, hopes to be back with us in a month's time.

The Ladies of St. Peter's church of Maple Lake served us a tea party this Thursday afternoon. Oh, and by the way, their Shepherd came along with them, so they wouldn't go astray. It was good to see friends of yesteryear - friends whom we hold so very, very dear.

It is sing-song time again this Friday afternoon. Mrs. Coburn couldn't come to sing a merry tune. Fred Ballard came to play for the residents to sing some good old hymns.

There was a young lassie named Molly Malone,

Who longed for a sweet-heart and a home of her own. Now there was this laddie named Paddy O'Flynn,

I'll just set my cap and try and catch him.

For she knew he had a cute little shack With shamrock all round and a place at the back

Everything so neat and so trim

And now she is Mrs. Molly O'Flynn.

Missing skaters

Last week's Times article on the March 17 figure skating competition in Bobcaygeon did not mention an important group of skaters. Lisa Carr, Jana Obee and Jennifer Tomlinson all competed for the Minden Figure Skating Club in the Preliminary Ladies division. Lisa Carr turned in a particularly fine performance for Minden, taking a first place win overall in the day-long event.

Our apologies to the ladies involved for failing to mention their efforts in the Sunday competition.

Forming a self-help group

- by Susan Clements -

Suppose, as a resident of Haliburton County, you believed that there was a need for a relief programme for parents of mentally retarded children. Suppose you believed that a local speech pathologist or other specialists were required to meet the needs of the county's mentally retarded. What would you do with your ideas?

Today's article will attempt to answer this question by describing an organization that was formed to ensure that the services for the mentally retarded in Haliburton

County are of high quality and accessible. This organization is called the Tri-County Local Working Group. Knowledge of the group's role will be of value to parents of mentally retarded persons living at home, in the residence, working at A.R.C. or having other work placements. In addition, knowledge of the group will be of benefit to those citizens interested in the welfare of the community as a whole.

In 1974, the Ministry of Community and Social Services encouraged the development of community-based services. Community participation in the planning

- advise government on policy development
- support and encourage public education program
- monitor and evaluate service systems

In the case of the Tri-County Working Group, the membership is comprised of representatives from each of the three counties. The members are drawn from the associations for the mentally retarded, community volunteers and from direct service and administrative staff in fields of health, education and social services. The group meets monthly in either Lindsay or Peterborough and on occasion in Haliburton.

In promoting the decentralization plan, the Ministry of Community and Social Services recognized the need for a full time Mental Retardation Co-ordinator for each of the nineteen districts in the province. The Co-ordinator was responsible for the development of the working group, and the establishment of a planning process. The Mental Retardation Co-ordinator for the Tri-County Working Group is David Ross. David has had considerable work experience in Haliburton County in several professional capacities. His office is located in Peterborough, however, his visits to Haliburton County are frequent. As a representative of the Tri-County Working Group, David was a key planner for the Locarno Workshop, which was directed toward the co-operation and co-ordination of all human services existing in Haliburton County. Presently, David is engaged in follow-up activities resulting from the Locarno meeting.

If you have any questions or suggestions regarding needs and services to the mentally retarded, please contact David Ross at 705-748-5883, or at the following address:

Mr. David Ross, Mental Retardation Co-ordinator, Adult Division, Ministry of Community & Social Services, 277 George St., Suite 104B, Peterborough, Ont. K9J 3G9.

Also don't forget the Thrift Shop at St. Paul's Parish for those great buys.

And, don't forget the upcoming C-I-L art exhibit coming on April 7 at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery in the Minden Cultural Centre. I have had a preliminary look at the collection, and it promises to be a beautiful show.

Mrs. Crean's Irish Soda Bread. Mrs. Gerard Orsi's grandmother brought this recipe from Ireland, her birthplace where this bread was a staple in every home. While it has been changed slightly, it is still an Irish delight.

3 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 tsp. baking soda, 2 tsp. baking powder, 4 tbs. butter or margarine, 2 tbs. caraway seeds, 1 cup raisins, 2 eggs, 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk (to sour milk, add 1 tbs. vinegar or lemon juice).

Mix together flour, sugar, baking powder and soda. Cut in with pastry blender 4 tbs. of butter until it is in small particles. Add caraway seeds and raisins, mix well. Add buttermilk and slightly beaten eggs.

Stir until well mixed and put into greased and floured 8" cake pan. Make cross in top with flour dipped knife. Bake for 50 minutes to 1 hour in 325 oven. Tap: If hollow sound, it is done.

To all you Spalpeens and Leprechauns out there, - The Top O' The Marnin' to ye and the Rest O' the day te Me!

Happy St. Patrick's Day to all.

Enigma

There is a hunger that feasting won't quell
And a thirst that elixir can never dispel.
The brightness of morning can't black out the night
And the soul is repelled by the dawn's early light.
Ah the summer is cold
And the winter is hot
To possess is to have
And to have, but have not.
A thought is a thing you can't hold in your hand
Like an infinitesimal grain of sand,
But a thought can move mountains
That tower above
And a thought can foment
The beginning of love.
Oh the passions that through the mind abound
In one long never-ending sound
In the world's destiny, each man is a brother
Yet we still have not learned how to love one another.
If we heeded some text from the spires above
We could find our won peace in the arms of the dove,
And God in His glory, His will would be done
And the hawk could not fly in the rays of the sun.

lines from lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! We really ran the gamut of weather this past weekend. Wind, rain, and snow but the sun on Sunday was beautiful, showing us the promise of what is to come. I hope. The mild weather sure cut down on the amount of snowmobilers and ice fishermen. Even the old man didn't get out fishing on the weekend.

Joe Kay was up from Toronto, for a few days last week, visiting his Aunt and Uncle; Frank and Anne Dunsford.

Bob and Barb White were down from Sudbury on the weekend visiting with the Wrights.

Our son Bill and his family; Wendy, Dawn and April from Shelburne, were up on the weekend to do some fishing but didn't get out.

Our Warden, Ron Gambell, went to the opening of Parliament at Queen's Park on March 9th, as guest of our Member of Parliament, Mr. John Eakins. After the speeches, he went to a reception in the Lt. Governor's Suite. Mr. Gambell had a very enjoyable time meeting with all the dignitaries.

So pleased to hear that Mrs. Telford is home from Hospital and doing nicely.

And we are also pleased to hear that Paul Prentice is now home from Hospital and doing well.

Major and Mrs. Lewis with Mr. and Mrs. Stott spent a couple of days in Gravenhurst.

We wish Angus Coulter a very Happy 84th Birthday. With many more.

"A Special Thank You"

Paul and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who helped us during our unfortunate accident.

A very special thanks to Larry Hartin and Pat
Kennedy for their very quick and efficient service from Wildlife through to Peterborough and also to Dr. Pierce and his nurses for their great care and concern.

Thank you to all the guys who got Paul quickly and safely to the ambulance. You were great!

Thank you everyone for all your cards, visits, flowers, and support through this time. It is so nice to have such great friends we can count on.

And finally, thank you to our very special families. Times like these are so much easier when shared with the people you love.

Sincerely,

Patti & Paul Prentice
